ZONE THERAPY & FOOT REFLEXOLOGY

Academic & Clinical Foundations Study Reference

Introduction to Zone Therapy

Zone Therapy is based off of an ancient Chinese system of Acupuncture Energy Meridians. There are 10 zones in the body. Manipulation of "reflex points" could enhance the flow of "energy" to that particular zone.

"Zone Therapy" mirror sites — Today's Foot Reflexology

What is Reflexology?

Reflexology is the technique of manipulating reflex points that correspond to specific organs and body parts found within the feet and hands. The art of reflexology teaches that the energy, or life force of every individual circulates between organs of the body and flows through every living cell and tissue.

> Many cultures believe that if this energy or life force is blocked, the organ or part of the body that corresponds to that area becomes affected. These energy blocks can be detected in zones located on the hands and feet.

Benefits of Reflexology

- Primary Goal: The primary goal of any session is to offer relaxation. When you relax, you release tension, which better enables your body to work to heal and detoxify itself.
- Improved Circulation: By working with prominent reflex areas, you can improve the body's circulation of not only blood, but also vital lymph fluids.
- Improved Nerve Pathways: Increase in circulation improves not only blood flow to every cell in the body, but along nerve pathways as well.
- Homeostasis: Reflexology restores the body to a dynamic state of balance.
- Increased Energy: By revitalizing your body's organs and glands, reflexology increases the body's available energy.
- Prevention: By targeting the overall health of the body's 10 zones, reflexology serves to prevent blockages and congestion that can lead to serious health problems.

Anatomical & Energy Zones

The study of reflexology divides the body into energy zones, five of each located on each side of the body. These zones incorporate the torso, legs, arms, fingers, and feet. The 10 zones of the body are found on the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet correspond in a linear or vertical pattern through every aspect of the body.

Reflexology practitioners view the body as though it's been divided into ten different vertical zones. Each of these zones corresponds to one of your fingers and one of your toes. Within these zones, energy is moving through your body in much the same way that electricity runs through the wiring in your house.

System Overview

System Parameter	Description and Operational Mechanism
Foundational Origin	Based off of an ancient Chinese system of Acupuncture Energy Meridians.
Zone Division	10 distinct vertical zones across the body (5 on each side), incorporating the torso, legs, arms, fingers, and feet.
Reflex Mapping	Linear or vertical patterns mapping to the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet, corresponding to fingers and toes.
Physiological Impact	Enhances relaxation, improves blood and lymph circulation, clears nerve pathways, restores homeostasis, increases energy, and prevents congestion.

